Committee, at one time associated with the Communist Kiangsi Provisional Government, and later a subordinate of TAI Li.

- e. HSU Hsiao-yen (許孝炎). Maintained close relations with the CC Clique, but was actually associated with WANG Shih-chieh. Prior to the fall of Nanking he was Vice Minister of the Kuomintang Publicity Department. At present he is Editor-in-Chief of the Hong Kong Shih Pao, a Kuomintang organ, supported financially by the CC Clique.
 - f. CH' IEN Lu (錢穆). Former Peking University professor and historian who is now running the Hsin Ya (新亞) Academy in Hong Kong. The school was financed from funds allotted by CHIANG Kai-shek to the Free China Movement. CH' IEN is one of the editors of the Min Chu P'ing Lun (民主評論).
 - g. TING Wen-yuan (丁文淵). Editor-in-chief of the Hong Kong periodical, Ch'ien T'u, TING was once President of Tung Chi University, Shanghai. German-educated, he is a close friend of CHU Chia-hua. His magazine is financed by LI Tsung-jen and LIU Hsiang-tung (劉航綜). LIU is now in Taiwan undergoing impeachment proceedings and has refused to pay the rest of the funds he has promised. TING, who is financially embarrassed, is receiving some funds from the CC Clique.
4. This group is having little success in drawing to it anti-Communist independent political elements. The presence in the group of P'ENG Chao-hsien, CHANG Kuo-t'ao, and others who are well-known as members of the hard core of the Kuomintang and the CC Clique, has caused real liberals to shy away from any relationship with it.
